

During the 16 days of Activism against Gender Based Violence, the City of Charles Sturt Libraries invites you to share a message of love.

Please enter the Digital Story Box at the Civic Woodville Library between:

25 November - 10 December 2018

(No bookings required)

On a special 'Tardis' phone, you will be able to listen to pre-recorded messages about respectful relationships.

We then encourage you to please record your own message of love if you wish.

This message can be to someone in your life, or can even be a message of love to your younger self.

These recordings will be published later, as part of a community project in the Libraries in 2019.

Please share your message of love using the following questions

A respectful relationship to me is.....?

What I've learned in my life about respectful relationships is...?

My message of love is to

(for eg. to my friend/sister/mother/partner/colleague/ or myself) and I just want to say ...

For further information about this project, please contact Sascha Hutchinson (Coordinator Literacy & Learning) on (08) 8408 1119

